

Full Moon, Jupiter and Saturn

This month's full moon will rise on Tuesday 8 November in the eastern sky around sunset and is also known as the Beaver Moon, Digging Moon, Scratching Moon, Deer Rutting Moon and Whitefish Moon. Like every full moon, the Beaver Moon brings with it a story that dates back many years. Are you excited to know the story behind the names of the moon? Join us on 8 and 9 November to watch the Beaver Moon in all its glory.

In addition to the full moon event of the month, Jupiter and Saturn will be present in perfect visibility from 1 till 11 November along with the moon gradually taking shape to the Beaver Moon. During these days, the moon will be changing from a half moon to a full moon, which is the perfect time to see the shadows highlight some stunning features on the many craters of the moon. On top of that, Jupiter will be visible with four of its moons, called the Galilean Moons, which are the first four moons that were discovered beyond Earth.

In addition, Saturn will be perfectly visible and its rings are a spectacular observance. Watch these distant celestial objects up close and learn about their special and unique nature in our solar system. You might also be lucky enough to see Mars and Uranus depending on the visibility during the evening.

Join our informative astronomer with his eight inch telescope and take a serene and interactive journey through the night. Enjoy the full moon or watch Jupiter and Saturn dominate the sky!
